

Carhartt WIP is part of the Work In Progress Holding AG. Our family-owned business group started as a licensee and European distributor of the US workwear manufacturer Carhartt in the early 1990s. Since then, it develops its own collections based on workwear originals.

Carhartt Work In Progress aims to continuously progress and evolve, without ever losing sight of its origins. Over the course of the past two decades, our business has developed organically, along with its customers, the culture that surrounds the brand, and its employees who have helped shape what Carhartt WIP is today.

For our office in Basel we are looking for you as

Apparel Technical Designer (m/f/x)

Your Responsibilities:

Illustration of our collection in cooperation with our collection team

Elaborating, creating and updating sketches for tech packs, technical files (seam sections)

Work closely with Design, Merchandising and Production teams

Providing technical expertise and supporting the Design team on fit development and construction details

Various graphic projects

Attending meetings

Your Profile:

Corresponding training in textile industry

Experience in apparel technical design

Expert in Photoshop, Adobe Illustrator and sew tech sketches

Confident handling of the common MS-Office programs and Apple applications

Independent, structured and careful working method

Organizational talent and team spirit

Excellent knowledge of English, French advantageous

Your Location:

Basel / Switzerland

Please send the application with your salary expectations and your earliest possible start date

Yann LE TIEC – Head of Operation Fashion Industry yletiec@wip-trading.ch